AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the following subject: "A New Heaven and a New Earth." (Is it true that we must have a "new heaven" before we can have a "new earth"?) In the evening there will be a discussion on another vital theme: "Three Thieves to be Drowned." Good music arranged for both services. Those having no other obligations for the day are invited to worship with us. Strangers also welcome.

HUNTING PARTY.

Drs. E. C. Thrash, Jackson W. Landham, J. W. Roberts, Charles Downum, Norin Adkins, Jake Sauls and Dr. Wells were tendered a very pleasant fishing trip at the Blitchen club house on the Ogeechee river the first three days of the week, where fish and squirrels were plentiful. One of the features of the occasion was a moon hunt which was an absolute success. As to the race however, they failed to capture the coon as the dog came, near being drowned.

SNAP SCHOOL ITEMS.

Our school is increasing daily. We have an enrollment of nearly one hundred. The pupils take great interest in the devotional exercises, which last twenty minutes each morning.

On Friday, October 12th, the pupils reorganized a literary society which we named "Busy Bee."

Our teachers are alert to everything that will help the students in their education. They hold that practical experience is more effective than book learning and theory and they are doing a vast deal of good for the young people of the district.

LOCAL MERCHANTS TO ORGANIZE TRADE CLUB

Statesboro merchants and business men are planning to institute a contest in which a number of valuable prizes will be awarded to their patrons at its termination.

The exact plans for the contest have not yet been perfected, but the membership of the club have formed, but announcement will be forthcoming within the next few days.

At a preliminary meeting of the trade association Monday evening it was decided to organize twenty or more business men of the city, each engaged in a different line, who will unite to stimulate trade in their respective lines. Prizes to the value of $1,000 or more will be awarded at the termination of the contest. These prizes will be paid from a fund contributed by the members, their contributions to be based entirely upon the amount of cash sales during the contest. Each member will give tickets with every cash purchase or payment on account, which is intended as an inducement to buy from members and pay cash. This is the big object of the contest.

Young women and married women throughout the county will be entitled to compete for the prizes, and they will be able to win just in proportion as they hold tickets from the various members of the organization.

The exact duration of the contest has not been determined upon, but it was tentatively agreed to continue through the holidays, closing some time early in the coming year.

Officers of the association are: W. H. Aldred, president; J. B. Everett, vice-president; Harold Averitt, secretary and treasurer; J. A. Addison, J. R. Kemp and W. H. Aldred, executive committee.

Announcement of the entire membership and the list of prizes to be given will be published in next week's issue of the Times.

Called Term of Court to Convene Shortly

An adjourned term of Bulloch superior court has been ordered by Judge Strange to be held on Monday, November 12th. The object is to clear the docket of a number of matters, both civil and criminal, which were not reached at the recent session.

Because of the change case, transferred from Jenkins for trial, consumed almost half the week's session, there were a number of important matters carried over. No grand jury will be present at the adjourned session.

Before adjournment Saturday Judge Strange drew juries for the regular January term, the first of the quarterly terms under the new law, which will convene on the fourth Monday in January. Both grand and traverse juries have been drawn for that term.

Have Ad Club Dinner at Jaekel Hotel Night

The regular meeting of the Ad Club will be held at the Jaekel Hotel Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock. At this meeting the newly elected president, S. W. Lewis, will preside and will outline his plans and ambitions for the year's work. Secretary Davidson asks those who will be present at the dinner to notify him in person or by phone as early Friday as possible.

LAST DAY OF FAIR'S BIGGEST IN HISTORY

Friday, the closing day of the county fair, was said by those in charge to have been the biggest day in the history of the fair, with at least 10,000 people in the fair grounds.

The carnival company, having an engagement in Savannah for Saturday, was compelled to pull up and leave Friday night. This left the last day of the fair practically without any pulling power, and the gate receipts were thrown open to the public and the exhibits moved out early in the day.

The total receipts for the fair were:

Admission, 25c. $2,500.00

Concessions, 10c. $1,000.00

Amusement, 5c. $500.00

Refreshments, 10c. $1,000.00

Other, 10c. $500.00

Total $5,500.00

WIFE OF LEADING CITIZEN OF METTER FINDS BRUTE IN HER HOME.

A white woman, aged 30 years, wife of one of the most prominent citizens of the town of Metter, was attacked and seriously injured late Sunday afternoon by a young negro man whom she found in her home during the absence of her husband.

The assailant, Jim Rayley, aged 21 years, is now in Chatham county jail, following a two-day chase which ended Tuesday afternoon when he was caught near Wadley. He was brought back to Metter by Deputy Sheriff Floyd Wednesday morning and though there was considerable excitement over his coming, he was landed in jail before any attempt at lynching was organized.

According to reports, the attack upon the woman occurred about dusk Sunday evening. The negro came to the back door of the home and inquired for her husband. She informed him that he was not at home. A few minutes later the woman discovered that the negro had entered the house from the front. She took her husband's pistol and ordered him out. He retired for a moment and then came back with a knife, threatening her life. She fled into the yard. The negro followed her and grappled with her in the yard, taking the pistol from her. In the struggle he cut her severely. Her screams attracted attention from neighbors and the negro fled. He fired at her as he ran.

Sheriff Mallard was phoned for to send his dogs to aid in the chase. According to reports, the dogs followed a trail directly to the home of the suspected negro two miles away. A search of the premises disclosed that the negro was not at home. The dogs were confused by the crowd which had gathered around the premises and were unable to follow the trail away from the house.

Searching parties remained on duty throughout Sunday night, scouting the woods thoroughly. Monday and Monday night the search was kept up. Tuesday evening law was made for the purpose of joining in the Jefferson Davis celebration in Savannah yesterday.

The party stopped in Statesboro long enough to mingle with a few of the Statesboro citizens who gathered on the court house square, and short talks were made by J. E. McCrann in behalf of the city of Statesboro, and responded to by Editor Rountree for the visitors.

Through courtesy of the Statesboro Advertising Club, arrangements were made for serving drinks to the visitors at the various drink places. The stop-over in Statesboro was necessarily short in order for the visitors to reach Savannah in time to enter the Jefferson Davis parade, which was staged to begin at 12:30 o'clock.

URGE LOCAL MAN FOR STATE HIGHWAY BOARD

Active steps to bring to the attention of Gov. Walker the fitness of Dr. R. J. Kennedy to succeed the late R. C. Neely as a member of the state highway commission, were taken Tuesday by the announcement that the governor had already named W. T. Anderson for the vacancy.

Mr. Neely, whose home was in Waynesboro, died Saturday. In view of the fact that he was a resident of the first congressional district, it was deemed logical that a successor for the unexpired term should come from that same territory. Friends of Dr. Kennedy, recognizing him as an enthusiastic and consistent good roads advocate, began Monday evening to put in motion a plan to have him chosen by the governor for the vacancy. The movement met a hearty cooperation among the local friends here and elsewhere in the district. The appointment of Mr. Anderson, however, announced Tuesday, brought the plan to an end. Mr. Anderson is recognized as a good man for the place and his appointment gives satisfaction here.

Choice eulogiums for Mr. Neely were given at the funeral, which was held at the Statesboro Methodist church, at 11:00 a. m. Tuesday.

HOT CONTEST AMONG SCHOOLS AT THE FAIR

Brooklet school won first prize in the school community contest at the late fair, taking the capital prize of $100; Bradwell school came second for the $80 prize, and Register took third prize—$60.

With these cash prizes went also the blue, red and yellow ribbons respectively.

Six other schools competed for prizes, and were awarded in the following order: Middleground 4th, $50; Bird, 5th, $40; Sun, 6th, $30; Sun, 7th, $20; Port, 8th, $10; Central 9th, $10.

These figures only partially tell of the warmth of the contest. It was no easy matter for the judges to arrive at the classifications given. Aside from the first prize, which was generally recognized as belonging to Brooklet, there was some close figuring to decide between the other eight.

There were five judges engaged in making the awards, and they were rather sharply divided at times in determining the points. While there were probably some disappointed contestants, when the awards were made, and the backs upon which they were made was understood, there was ready acquiescence in the decisions. The basis in making the awards was: Quality, 60 per cent; arrangement, 25 per cent; variety 15 per cent.

The neatness of each display was the point which was hardest to decide, and was probably the final deciding factor. Every community had gathered an abundance of choice articles, and each booth was a thing of beauty. It is no discredit to any of the losers that their neighbors slightly outranked them in the judge's opinion—it was a matter in which a very small point one way or the other cast the decision.

In addition to the school community display, prizes were awarded to schools in special canned goods exhibits follows:

Port, first prize, $40.

Sun, third prize, $10.

It is a matter of congratulation that the country school of Bulloch county are so greatly interested that they are willing to go to the necessary trouble to contribute to the success of their county fair. To the efforts of these people is largely due the success of the fair.

WRIGHTSVILLE PARTY PASS BY STATESBORO

A party of one hundred or more Johnson county citizens, riding in twenty-odd autos passed through Statesboro yesterday morning en route to visit the Tri-State Exposition in Savannah.

The party was headed by C. D. Bantre, and the trip was being made for the purpose of joining in the Jefferson Davis celebration in Savannah yesterday.

The party stopped in Statesboro long enough to mingle with a few of the Statesboro citizens who gathered on the court house square, and short talks were made by J. E. McCrann in behalf of the city of Statesboro, and responded to by Editor Rountree for the visitors.

WANT COURT ABOLISHED.

The recommendation of the late grand jury that the city court of Statesboro be abolished has not yet reached that stage of public discussion where it is possible to judge of its popularity.

Not having at hand any data upon which to base an estimate of the cost of this court, the Times is not sure whether it agrees with the proposition that it is costing too much. The wording of the grand jury is that the court "has been operated at a loss." The correct idea of courts does not seem to be that they shall be profit-making from a standpoint of dollars and cents, but rather dispense justice as between men and to maintain law and order as far as possible. If the city court has done this in a satisfactory manner, it is hard to measure its value to the people in cash. If it has failed to do this, it has to that extent cost too much.

The quarterly terms of superior court, promulgated after this year, will in a measure, nullify the need for the city court; but we are not absolutely sure that this will be satisfactory or very expensive. There are phases of economy in the operation of the city court which are not always apparent to the public. It so happens that, with the judge always at hand ready to hear cases, there are many plans entered and cases promptly disposed of at a saving of cost to the taxpayers in jail fees which might not be possible without the court. Every day a prisoner lies in jail waiting trial, the taxpayers of the county are feeding him. With terms of court every three months apart, this item of expense would undoubtedly be increased. Besides, the expense of holding court is less in the city than superior court. Eight jurors try a case in the city court, at $3.00 per day each. In the superior court it takes twelve—a difference in expense of $12 for each panel of jurors. That of itself is an item worth counting. There may be useless expense in the conduct of the city court. We are not sure, however, that the entire court should be abolished.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Winnetka, Illinois, is a suburb of Chicago, of the "aristocratic" class. Its population consists mostly of families, the heads of which are engaged in business in Chicago.

In 1900 a municipal electric plant was built in the town. This plant has been gradually enlarged until the investment totals over $250,000 and service is furnished to a population of 8,000 people.

Wide publicity is being given by city officials of Winnetka to the efficiency attained by their local electric plant, which they claim has been kept free from political interference and operated on a business basis.

The rates charged by the Winnetka plant are considerably higher than those charged by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois which serves the same territory in which Winnetka is located. The latter company's rates are ten cents per k. w. h. for the first thirty hours, eight cents per k. w. h. for service in excess of 30 hours in any given month. The municipal plant's rates are eleven cents per k. w. h. for first 100 hours, ten cents per k. w. h. for next 100 hours, and nine cents per k. w. h. for all in excess of 200 hours in any given month.

As the Winnetka electric plant is one of the best examples of efficiency in operation of a municipally owned plant, it brings to issue the whole subject of public vs. private ownership.

The residents of Winnetka are undoubtedly against public ownership as a generally established practice, for they all make their living as the result of private enterprise and enterprise in Chicago. Yet they encourage and encourage the extension of the public ownership idea when they broadcast socialistic propaganda such as is now being sent out by their local plant.

Every city in the country could take over and operate any line of business. If it was managed efficiently it would pay its way; if not, the taxpayers would stand the deficit, if there was any private property left to pay taxes.

The real point is, however: Does the average citizen wish to surrender his right to do business and expand as a private individual, or does he wish to be eventually a mere employee of the city, state or government under public ownership?

Probably the city of Chicago could operate the retail stores, the leading factories, the theaters or the newspapers at as reasonable a cost or maybe less to the consumer than the present owners and managers who are typical of the residents who live in Winnetka.

Why not let the city shoe horses, run machine shops and garages and take over bakeries and milk distributing plants? There is no reason why the city should not do this as well as furnish electricity to its citizens, who would have to become mere employees of the city with no chance for private advancement.

It has probably never occurred to Winnetka citizens that an extension of the public ownership idea could very easily be applied to the business of any one of them.

Advocates of socialism always want it applied to the "other fellow's" business, but once the doctrine is established it is no respecter of persons. Public ownership and the rights guaranteed by our constitution to individual citizens can never be mixed. Freedom goes out of one door as socialism comes in the other.

QUATTLEBAUM SENTENCED TO LONG PRISON TERM

From five to six years in the penitentiary was the sentence pronounced Saturday evening by the jury trying the case against Floyd Quattlebaum, charged with burning his home near Clito a year or more ago.

Two or three other charges against Quattlebaum growing out of the same circumstances were disposed of at the spring term of the court, when he entered pleas of guilty to charges of shooting at another, drunkenness on the highway, and possessing liquor. On these three charges he then drew fines aggregating $300 and twelve months of the chain-gang, the latter sentence to be suspended during good behavior.

The charge of arson, called at the same term of court, was dismissed because of an error in the indictment which gave another name than the real owner of the house burned. The house was occupied by Quattlebaum and his family and was the property of H. E. Cartledge. Quattlebaum burned the house and ran his wife and baby out while he was intoxicated.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA HAVE ALUMNI HOMECOMING

(By Robert Donaldson.)

Athens, Ga., Oct. 29.—A warm welcome awaits the alumni of the University of Georgia November 10th, which will be observed as "Homecoming Day." Friday night the Thallings play, "Seventeen." Following the play there will be a dance given by the Pan-Hellenic council.

On Saturday there will be a meeting of the alumni which will be followed by a parade, then lunch. Saturday afternoon Georgia will meet the University of Virginia in their annual griddon classic. This is expected to be one of the season's most exciting games. Since the death of Van Gammon, the University of Georgia and the University of Virginia have been brought closer together than any other southern colleges. Van Gammon, fullback for Georgia and one of the greatest players the south has ever produced, was killed in a game between Georgia and Virginia in 1897. In 1921 the athletic association of the University of Georgia presented to the University of Georgia a bronze plaque as a memorial to Van Gammon and his mother. It was his mother, who, after the death of her son, when the legislature was considering abolishing football, wrote a representative, "Grant me the right to request that my boy's death should not be used to defeat the most cherished object of his life."

Georgia will find Athens the center of amusement and pleasure November 10th, which promises to be the most delightful "Homecoming Day" the friends of the university ever enjoyed. A one and one-half mile has been secured on all railroads leading to Athens.

NEGRO CAUGHT SHINING ON MALLARD'S FARM

R. D. Mallard, office deputy for Sheriff B. T. Mallard, made a capture on his farm a few days ago which surprised him as well as the other party to the surprise.

The deputy operates a farm some miles from Statesboro. A few days ago he arranged for a negro prisoner and carried him out to help gather his crop. Two weeks later Mr. Mallard and Horace Marsh, also attached to the sheriff's office, went out to give a trial to a couple of young blood hounds belonging to the sheriff. Mr. Mallard decided that his own farm and his own negro would offer the proper opportunity for the trial. When he drove up to his farm gate he espied smoke coming from the chimney, and was amazed upon investigation to find his farmer engaged in running off a small quantity of home brew. The trial of the dogs was called off and the party returned to town and returned the negro to jail. He will have an additional charge to face when he comes to trial, that of shining.

"FORTY YEARS IN THE WILDERNESS"

At the Baptist church Sunday morning the pastor will discuss the foregoing topic. It took Israel thirty-seven years, though in sight of the Promised Land, to go the distance between Statesboro and Savannah. We are in sight of a sober world, a lawless world, a united world. How long will it take us to go? This will be the subject for the morning. At night the subject will be, "Seeing the best in the other fellow."

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend to our many friends and relatives our heartfelt thanks for their many kind deeds and words of consolation during our sad journey when death took our beloved wife and mother. Only those who have suffered such bereavement can fully understand our sorrow. And we truly thank the depths of our hearts those who sympathized with us during our grief. May God's richest blessings be upon each and every one.

We bow in humble submission to the will of God, and with a sweet hope we look forward to that day when we shall all meet again.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard, on Zetterow avenue, was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Tuesday evening when their daughter, Marie Lou, became the bride of Mr. David Kennedy, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Leland Moore of the Methodist church.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. C. R. Matthews sang, "At Darning," and during the ceremony Mrs. R. H. Evans played, "Hearts and Flowers." To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding chorus the bride party entered the living room where the ceremony took place.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER.

One of the most charming events of the week-end was the birthday dinner given Mr. Chas. E. Cone by his wife at their home in Andersonville Saturday.

It had been kept a secret from Mr. Cone, and when he walked into the diningroom, quite to his surprise his eyes met with the lovely flowers and other table decorations, also a number of invited guests, who welcomed him with happy birthday greetings.

Among those present were Mr. Cone's father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Cone, whose presence added much to the enjoyable occasion.

GEORGIA'S EXPERIENCE IN TOBACCO GROWING

VALUABLE LESSONS LEARNED IN SEVEN YEARS' GROWING IN SOUTH GEORGIA.
(By Edison C. Westbrook.)

The indications at present point to an increase in the Georgia tobacco acreage estimated anywhere from 100 to 300 per cent. In view of this fact, it would seem very important that the prospective new growers be informed of the methods of producing tobacco that have proven to be the most profitable.

This year South Georgia produced 9,103,343 pounds of bright leaf tobacco, which averaged $25.70 per hundred. It was the best quality crop Georgia has ever grown. It was the first crop that created any favorable comment worthy of consideration from the tobacco buyers. We at last have been recognized as producers of high quality tobacco. It has taken seven years to get the recognition. We did not get it sooner because many of our farmers did not learn many of the fine points of the business until they had a few years' experience. We must maintain our reputation for producing good tobacco.

There are some excuses for many of these farmers making mistakes, because they were growing a new crop under new conditions. They were blazng the trail. Prospective new growers should not have to go through all of the struggles the earlier growers had to go through with.

If the tobacco acreage is increased as much another year as is indicated, there will be more tobacco produced by the new growers than the total crop for this year. Large quantities of low grade tobacco next year would depress our markets and create dissatisfaction.

We believe that every person interested in the promotion of tobacco should use every available means to aid in supplying tobacco growers and prospective growers with the best and most complete information available on the subject.

The outlook at present indicates that we are likely to meet keen competition next season, due to an indicated larger acreage in Virginia and the Carolinas. The best way to meet competition is with high quality tobacco.

The Georgia State College of Agriculture has for distribution bulletins entitled, "Tobacco Culture" and "The Cost of Producing Bright Tobacco." These bulletins will be mailed free upon request. They can also be obtained from your county agent. They contain very detailed information and should be very helpful to the new grower. Only farmers who are willing to do all of the things necessary for the production of high quality tobacco should be encouraged to grow it.

Select a well-drained sandy loam soil. Do not select the richest land for the poorest. Land of medium fertility is best. Do not plant after a heavy crop of velvet beans or cowpeas.

An 8-8-5 fertilizer has up to now proven the most profitable. The right amount to use has varied from 800 to 1,200 pounds per acre, depending on the richness of the land. A high per cent of potash helps to keep the tobacco from going to pieces during the rainy season, which usually comes in July.

Finely pulverized, well rotted stable manure applied at the rate of 2 to 3 tons per acre at least a month before transplanting, greatly increases the yield and improves the quality of the tobacco.

Experience has proven that early tobacco is much more profitable than late tobacco. It is heavier and goes through the rainy season. Tobacco should be set in the field the last of March, and the first ten days of April. In order to have plants ready by this time, the beds should be sown the last of December, and not later than the middle of January.

Farmers who jump in and jump out nearly always jump at the wrong time. Did you ever see a school of fish who have made most money out of tobacco are the ones who have stuck through the bad years as well as through the good ones. Tobacco should not be the only money crop.

BETTER ROADS AND BETTER SCHOOLS

Macon, Ga., Nov. 2.—Better highways and markets and more consolidated schools are three of Georgia's greatest needs for progress, W. T. Anderson, editor of the Macon Telegraph and recently appointed to the state highway commission, declared in an interview here tonight.

"The advent of the boll weevil is undoubtedly a blessing," Mr. Anderson said. "The south has been in cotton slavery for over fifty years, and never would have gotten out except for the intervention of the divinity. We have been raising cotton at a cost of 10 1/2 cents and selling it for 9 1/2 cents."

"Out of these profits" we have bought our food from the west, paying whatever the markets demanded, and going into bankruptcy or foreclosure for the difference.

"The boll weevil has established a necessity for diversification in farming, which is going to return us to the practices of our ancestors who raised their food first and cotton as a surplus."

"This brings us to the eminent need of markets for the surplus products from our farms."

"The potato curing plants must be established and the United States, if not the world, must be educated to the value of the sweet potato as food by properly curing and selling them. It is held that three bushels of sweet potatoes equal one of corn in food value. Our present average corn production is 17 bushels to the acre. There are men in Georgia who have raised in excess of 600 bushels of potatoes to the acre; 200 bushels is nothing unusual. It can be readily seen what immense possibilities there are for Georgia by diverting our corn raising energies into sweet potato crops. What we need is a market and plan for curing them."

"We need one and one-half million more hogs raised in Georgia each year. Our packing houses have been shut down, with the exception of one at Moultrie, and it is now running and being kept open on Tennessee hogs."

"North Georgia needs to be put on a poultry production basis. In 1910, we had one chicken in Georgia for every seven acres of land, and our importation of chickens exceeded $10,000,000 per annum."

"We need more dairy cows to supply children and adults with milk to make them healthy, as the scientists agree that the condition of every human being is improved when health giving cow's milk is used."

"We need better health, which can be secured by a persistent fight on malaria, hook worm, tuberculosis and educating our people on the danger of eating denatured foods—the highly milked products which have had most of the essential elements removed."

"We need more consolidated schools, doing away with the little one-room, poorly lighted and poorly ventilated school houses, and putting the children into large schools under control of teachers so they can be given all the advantages that are to be obtained in city schools."

"We need better, good roads and they should be paved. There are more than 300,000 motor vehicles in Georgia, and the depreciation on these is in excess of $50,000,000 per year. This money goes to Detroit and Akron and to the oil refiners. A system of good roads would reduce our tire and gasoline consumption and automobile destruction to about $25,000,000 per annum. Smooth roads would accomplish this and pay off a bond issue in an incredibly short time no matter how much extravagance might be incurred," he said.

MELVILLE'S COMEDIANS COMING FOR FULL WEEK

Melville's Comedians will be in Statesboro for a full week beginning Monday, November 12th, under the auspices of the American Legion.

This company has appeared in this city twice in the past and is a popular favorite with everybody. The features of the coming appearance will include many new things of the very highest class.

A special invitation is extended to ladies to attend opening day. Ladies will be admitted free to this occasion when accompanied by one paid adult ticket.

BROOKLET COMMUNITY CLUB IS VERY ACTIVE

The Co-Operative Community Club of Brooklet met Tuesday night for the purpose of further making clear to the community the highest ideals of co-operation between farmer, citizen and merchant.

This club has been organized for some months and already has made its influence felt in the community by its work, having done so by means of a laundry, one of which enabled the Brooklet High school to win the blue ribbon at the Bulloch county fair.

The club has a membership including all the merchants of the city, together with representative farmers of the community, and are aided to whatever the markets demanded, and going into bankruptcy or foreclosure for the difference.

OBSERVANCE MONDAY OF ARMISTICE DAY

AMERICAN LEGION TO LEAD IN CELEBRATION IN WHICH EX-SERVICE MEN JOIN.

Armistice Day will be observed in Statesboro Monday in an adequate manner.

Under the leadership of the local post of American Legion a program has been prepared in which all ex-service men—those who participated in all past wars—are invited to have a part.

The business houses of Statesboro are expected to close during the exercises, continuing from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., and a barbecue dinner will be served to the ex-service men and their guests at Brannen park at the noon hour. This dinner is being provided by the members of the local Legion assisted by the Women's Club and the Advertising Club. Members of both these organizations are invited to participate in the dinner.

The program committee of the Legion has issued the following announcement:

All white ex-service men, including Confederate veterans, Spanish-American War veterans and veterans of the World War, are going to meet at the court house in Statesboro at 10 a. m. o'clock, Monday, November 12th. Judge Strange has agreed to adjourn superior court at that hour in order that the court house may be available for the purpose. The celebration will be in commemoration of the fifth anniversary of Armistice Day (Nov. 11th, 1918). All the ex-soldiers named above will form a line of march at the court house and will parade around the square and down to Brannen's park, where a huge feast will be spread. The feast will include plenty of barbecue, bread, coffee, cakes and pies.

Notice of this spread are: All Confederate veterans; All Spanish-American War veterans; All white veterans of the World War and the families of those who are married, (the single ones may bring one guest or one sweetheart); All members of the Women's Club; All members of the Statesboro A. C. Club.

A suitable program has been arranged, including a speech by a distinguished ex-service man. The stores will be closed.

The American Legion will pay its respects to those who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War. A special invitation is extended to the immediate family of Dexter Allen, deceased, in honor of whom our post is named.

All ex-soldiers are earnestly requested to wear their uniforms, if possible, but their presence is desired whether in uniforms or not. If you haven't a uniform, come on anyway. We are waiting for you and your name will be called.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE, SUPERIOR COURT TO CONVENE NEXT MONDAY

Adjourned term of Bulloch superior court will convene next Monday. There are quite a large number of matters, both civil and criminal, which have been brought over from the regular term last month and will come up for trial. Judge Strange has given notice that an effort will be made to clear the docket if possible, and all parties having business in the court are required to give prompt attention. Jurors who served at the regular term will be required to return next week.

The adjourned term next week does not mean in any way supplant the quarterly term to be held in January, which is the first regular January term under the new law. Jurors have been drawn for the January term, and their names will be published at a later date.

For liberal advances, special attention to weights and grades, quick returns, ship your cotton to Middleton & Peterson, Inc., Savannah. (23aue4mp)

COLLECTING SUBSCRIPTIONS.

For the past several days the Times has employed a representative, Mr. Remer Mikell, to assist in collecting subscriptions. Quite a number of our valued friends have permitted their accounts to run long past due, and the time is at hand when we are insisting upon settlement. Before the work is completed we hope every subscriber who is in arrears for any amount will see Mr. Mikell or call at the office and adjust their accounts.

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE FOR EXERCISES

The banks of Statesboro will be closed next Monday for the entire day on account of Armistice Day.

The stores and other business houses will close from 10 in the forenoon to 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Persons having business in Statesboro will do well to bear in mind the arrangements announced. Armistice Day exercises will occur beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing till 2 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the exercises. The dinner, however, is only for the members of the American Legion, who are in charge of the celebration, and such special guests as they may invite.

ORGANIZE PROTEST AGAINST INCREASED TELEPHONE RATES

Patrons of the Statesboro telephone system, at a mass meeting Monday afternoon, decided unanimously to make protest against the proposed increased telephone rates, a hearing on which proposal is to be held before the Georgia Public Service Commission next Tuesday in Atlanta.

Notice of the proposed protest for increased rates has been published for the past two weeks. Upon call of the mayor and council, a meeting was held in the court house Monday afternoon when the proposition was vigorously discussed. At the close of the meeting a resolution to resist the increase was adopted with a dissenting vote. A delegation of lawyers was appointed to represent the citizens and a committee was appointed from the meeting to raise a fund by popular subscription for the expense of the contest.

NEW BOARD CHAIRMAN ASSUMES DUTIES TODAY

C. C. DeLoach, new chairman of the board of county commissioners, assumed his office today, succeeding W. A. Groover, who has held the office since the first of January.

It will be recalled that in the last election W. A. Groover, C. C. DeLoach and R. J. Kennedy were elected board members for the ensuing two years. Assuming their duties the first of the year, an agreement was reached for dividing the chairmanship for the term. By this division Mr. Groover was designated chairman for the first ten months, which term is now expiring; Mr. DeLoach will succeed him for the next eight months, after which Dr. Kennedy will have six months to serve.

Dr. Kennedy was chairman of the board for the two years preceding this term.

JONES ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR SHERIFF

Announcement of John T. Jones for sheriff appears in today's issue. Mr. Jones is a resident of the Register community and is well known over the county. His entrance in the race is not a surprise to his friends. He has been known to have the matter under consideration for some time. He was associated with the sheriff's office as chief deputy some ten years ago, and was a candidate for sheriff at the time since then. His entry in the race is the second for that office, Jesse Williams, of Brooklet, having announced some weeks ago. It is recognized, generally, also, that Sheriff Mikell will be in the race again, and a definite statement from him is looked for at an early date.

LEADING FARMERS TO HELP MAKE PROGRAM

COUNTY AGENT HILLIS WILL ASK... CO-OPERATION... FROM MEN THROUGHOUT COUNTY.

An intelligent and concrete program for farming in Bulloch county will be promulgated at an early date for the benefit of Bulloch county farmers who may desire to co-operate in a program to be formulated.

County Agent Hillis is seeking the co-operation of representative farmers throughout the county in formulating a program for the coming year. A meeting of representatives from every section of the county has been called to advise with Mr. Hillis, which meeting will be held during the next few days. A program embracing every phase of agriculture applicable to this section of the state, suited to the large farmer as well as the small, will be announced.

This is one branch of usefulness which has been tried out in county agency work throughout the state, and it has proved very profitable. The importance of co-operative effort lies in the improved opportunities for marketing which follow fixed programs as well as the better opportunities for preparing for the planting and growing of the crop. Where a considerable number of neighboring farmers agree upon specific lines of work, the growing of potatoes, for instance, there is better marketing facilities assured through this co-operation. It is possible, also, to buy seed and needed fertilizers to better advantage through co-operation.

The co-operative plan does not contemplate that anybody shall be dictated to as to what they shall plant or how they shall cultivate. It is regarded as possible, however, that mutual benefit may be attained through contact among neighbors who are interested in the growing and marketing of similar crops.

It is expected that a farm agent in Bulloch county will be of great usefulness in the marketing of staple products for the farmer. His best usefulness can only be assured through his co-operation at planting time as well as at marketing time.

Bulloch county farmers, successful men who know the conditions of the county, will assist the county agent in doing the work that falls within his line—the work that is solely in the interest of the agricultural progress in the county.

As soon as a complete program has been mapped out, it will be published for the benefit of every farmer in the county. Those who care to benefit by the suggestions offered, will be at liberty to do so; those who prefer their own or some other plan, will be at liberty to exercise their own choice and farm in their own way.

TUESDAY WAS BIG DAY BEFORE COURT HOUSE

Tuesday was a big day before the court house in Statesboro. More sales were advertised for that day than possibly had ever been before, and practically everything advertised was sold.

The sales consisted chiefly of real estate, yet there was included in the list a range of personality extending from milk cows and farm mules to local line telephone
